PROPER WAY TO BAKE FISH

Small Cod or Haddock, Cooked in This Fashion, Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests.

Wash and wipe a small cod or haddock. Now, hold in an upright position and have a needle and string handy. Take the threaded needle and run through the head from side to side, then in the opposite direction through the middle of the body, then reverse and put through tail, then draw up, and it will form a letter S. Tie ends of string together on under side of fish. If fish is to be stuffed it must be done first. For stuffing, one-half cup bread crumbs and four teaspoons melted butter, four teaspoons of finely chopped parsley or onions, two teaspoons salt and one of pepper. Add milk to moisten, put in fish and sew it up. When fish is put in the pan it is resting on its belly. Cut gauges in back of fish about two inches apart and insert narrow strips of salt pork. Dredge with flour and bake often with the pork drippings. Allow ten minutes to every pound and ten minutes extra. When done remove string, place on platter and pour over it this egg sauce: Three tablespoons flour, two of butter, and one pint boiling water, one-half teaspoon of salt and a little pepper, and one hard boiled egg. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and stir in boiling water slowly. Let boil five minutes, stirring constantly. Add the egg chopped fine, and salt and pepper. Garnish with parsley.

RECIPE FOR PICKLED OYSTERS

Seems to Involve Good Deal of Work, but Probably Results Would Make It Worth While.

"Open one hundred large oysters, save all the liquor out of the beads and as you do them throw them in their own liquor. Set the oysters over a slow fire, boil them quickly half an hour and as the scum rises take it off. Take them out. Strain the liquor through a fine cloth and put the oysters in it again. While the liquor is hot take out half a pint, put into it a quarter of an ounce of cloves, half as much mace, boil this until the goodness is out, then put in half a pint of vinegar, half an ounce of black pepper. Put them altogether, let them stand till they are cold and put them up."—From an Old Family Cook Book.

Frangipane.

Beat four eggs until the whites and yolks are well mixed. Add one quart of milk (scant), and two-thirds cup of sugar, a little salt. Cook in a double boiler until quite thick. Now add two ounces of crushed macaroons, a little butter, the grated rind of a lemon, a glass of maraschino and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Return to the fire. Beat with the egg beater till smooth and quite thick. Pour out in sherbet glasses and chill. Just before serving put a tablespoonful of whipped cream on the top and sprinkle with chopped maraschino cherries.

Some of the recipes for foreign dishes which have found particular favor on American tables are given below.

Rich Pancakes.

Sift together one pint of flour, one teaspoonful sugar, a saltspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder sifted with the flour. Beat one egg thoroughly and stir it into a cup and a quarter of milk. Turn this on two cupfuls of cold boiled rice and beat with a fork until the rice is free from lumps. Add to the prepared flour and beat to a smooth batter. Have the griddle well heated and greased and cook the batter in large, thin cakes, browning nicely on both sides. Serve with maple syrup, honey or thick fruit syrup.

Banana Cakes.

With a sharp knife cut a section of skin from the concave curve of the banana and carefully take out the fruit, leaving the skin in the form of a canoe; fill it with salad made with equal portions of banana, pineapple and orange mixed with mayonnaise. Place on the top of each three or four berries of contrasting color, red raspberries, blackberries or blueberries, in their season, or candied cherries.—From Good Housekeeping.

Marmalade Sandwich.

Spread orange marmalade on buttered bread. Put four slices on top of each other. Put under weight and when well pressed trim off the crusts and cut down in thin slices, so they look like jelly cake.

Tea, coffee or chocolate and a cordial matching the table decorations are very chic when the collation is served at the end.

Nut Candy Bars.

One cup molasses, one cup sugar (granulated), one teaspoon butter. Boil until it is brittle when dropped into cold water. Remove from fire and add one teaspoon dry cooking soda, one teaspoon vanilla and one cup chopped nuts. Cool in tin and cut in bars or squares.

Fruit Drops.

Wash and dry one pound dates and one pound figs. Add one pound raisins, one cup English walnuts and put all through a meat grinder twice. Shape into balls and roll in granulated sugar, press flat on top of each. Prunes are good in place of dates.

Scalloped Potatoes.

Cut raw potatoes into round, thin slices, put the layers of potatoes, buttered, salt and pepper, and add milk enough to nearly cover them. Bake an hour and a half.

Corpse Got Up.

Negroes across the river from Montgomery, Ala., are in a state of consternation because of the apparent transformation of Seth Shook, a negro, from a corpse into a living being. Supposedly dead, Shook was laid out on a couch preparatory to being placed in a coffin, when he suddenly straightened up on the death divan, smiled broadly, shook his fist in the faces of friends and rolled off. Negroes were panic stricken and they avow that Shook is possessed of Satan.

KNOW WORKMAN BY THE HAIR

Blonds Are Inventive, Brunettes Conservative, Is Assertion of an Employment Chief.

Dr. Katherine M. H. Blackford, who has charge of the employment bureau in the M. Rumely company's machine works at Laporte, Ind., gave an address before the Efficiency society and the "Scientific Selection and Assignment of Men in the Creation of an Organization." She said that one of the greatest causes of waste in business concerns was "ignorance of human aptitude and the requirements of different kinds of work."

"Blonds and brunettes do not work in the same manner," she said. "Generally speaking, blonds are speculative and optimistic; usually mild and good natured, often inventive; they like to make plans for some one else to work out. They incline to aggressive work, such as salesmanship, advertising and promotion."

"Brunettes incline to conservatism rather than speculation; they are often serious minded; sometimes inclined to gloominess. They like to work out and perfect the plans which some other mind has made."

STYLE THAT NEVER CHANGES.

"Telling fairy tales to children is going out of fashion."
"But the style continues of mer telling them to their wives."

THEIR REASON.

"Why do broken-down widowers want to marry again?"
"That's an easy one. Because they want to get re-paired."

EVIDENCES OF IT.

"That man is a broker."
"I thought he had a stocky build."

WHY THE RECEIPTS FELL OFF

Happening That Had Swelled Them the Year Before Was Not Repeated, and Not Likely to Be.

The recent upheavals in Western Union circles which led to the injection of numerous railroad men into the commercial telegraph field on the Pacific coast led to some funny episodes while the railroaders were learning the new business. One Los Angeles official, who, however weak he might be in other matters, was strong as horse radish on red tape, telegraphed the manager of a desert telegraph office forty miles from any other office: "September a year ago your receipts were $4.95, last September only 25 cents; how do you account for losing 90 per cent. of the business?" and received full information in the following reply: "The $4.95 business last year was received from our section foreman, who sent telegrams to everybody he knew announcing the arrival of a baby at his house. This September his wife did not have any baby, and he says that next time she does he intends to write letters about it."—Los Angeles Times.

DON'T JUDGE BY EXTERNALS

That Physical Appearances or Mannerisms Denote Much Is Denied by Writer in Woman's World.

Place no dependence upon the common marks of character as shown by physical appearances or mannerisms. One of the strongest men mentally and spiritually I ever met had a "weak chin." And a "square jaw" is as likely to belong to a bully as to a brave man.

One of the most delicate, clever and gentle writers in America is a fat, frowsy and very common looking woman.

I know another woman with a loud, disagreeable voice, and she is not at all what that might imply, but is as sweet and modest as one could wish. It is just an unfortunate way.

Discount all the usual signs of a piercing eye, a soft voice, a shy manner, an imposing presence, a viciously low forehead, a shifting glance, and all that; judgments formed on these things are pretty sure to be wrong.—Dr. Frank Crane, in Woman's World.

JUDGE FINES A WATCH.

Judge T. H. Brents of the superior court at Walla Walla, Wash., who recently fined an automobile for making a juror late, has imposed a $10 fine on a watch which prevented Gus Haras, defendant in a case, from reaching court in time.

"Time's money, and we'll let the watch pay it," said the judge. Haras was sued by Pete Hanson, who asked $1,000 for false imprisonment. Haras having had him arrested three years ago for trespassing. After four hours the jury decided no damages were due.

ODD BITS IN THE NEWS.

"The bride," says an Australian paper, "appeared in a smart white frock of pale blue linen."

A newspaper headline runs: "Mother of eighty complains." Don't wonder at it. Our own missus finds even one troublesome.

The latest Irish bull: "It looks as if she had saddled herself with a veritable white elephant."—Dublin paper.

A Missouri lawyer, in pleading a wife's divorce case, stated that her husband "undertook to poison her without just cause."

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly.

No Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

We are prepared to do all kinds of high-grade job printing. Try us.
